

Join us for a unique community event:

Climate and Agricultural Ethics: Winds and Seeds of Change

Presented by:

Dr. Calvin DeWitt and David Kline

Saturday, January 28 at 7:00 pm

Unitarian Universalist Fellowship

3186 Burbank Road, Wooster, Ohio

Free and open to the public.

Dr. Calvin DeWitt, author of widely acclaimed book, Earthwise: A Guide to Hopeful Creation Care, is an internationally known ecologist, activist and city mayor. He is a faculty member at the University of Wisconsin and a founding member and chair of the American Society of the Green Cross and president of the Academy of Evangelical Scientists and Ethicists.

Mr. David Kline is a local Amish farmer known for his descriptions of wildlife, farming, and rural living in Great Possessions and Scratching the Woodchuck.

Dr. Dewitt and Mr. Kline have been invited by the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center, the College of Wooster, Ohio Interfaith Power and Light, Grace Brethren Church, and the Unitarian Universalist Fellowship of Wayne County.